A Shocking Case of Child Whipping.

The London Times, of July 25th, gives the following account of a fearful tragedy, that recently occurred at a London Boarding school:

Reginald Channell Cancellor was the son of a man of fair position in society. Nothing was spared to place him in one of those ordinary grooves in which boys are pushed to proficiency. His father sought out for him a school of reputation and a master who had the credit of being a man of high attainments and a successful teacher of youth. Mr. Hopley was to receive £180 a year with his pupil, and there was every incentive, therefore, to the tutor to endeavor to do his best by the boy. Unfortunately, he did not understand the lad who had come under his control. Young Cancellor was laboring under disease. He had water on the brain. He was stolid and stupid, and could not learn. He was silent when asked to repeat a sum in arithmetic which he had just been taught, and he did not know, or, as his schoolmaster thought, affected not to know, the difference between a sixpence and a shilling. This was a case for medical custody and gentle treatment. Mr. Hopley took a pedagogic view of it, and thought it was a case of obduracy, to be broken down by force. He flogged the boy, and, as it did him no good, he told the father that the punishment must be increased until the authority of the schoolmaster was established. Up to this point there is not much to be said. The fate of the poor brain-hammered, heavy, mindless boy, urged and flogged to work operations in his confused and formless intellect, must have been very wretched; but Hopley probably believed that all boys are alike, some brighter and some duller than others, but that all could take in the ordinary quantum of knowledge with more or less trouble if they pleased. At first he seems to have thought it his duty to conquer the boy's obduracy; but, as the contest went on, there appears too much reason to believe that it became a question of temper with the schoolmaster, and that violence and cruelty were the effect of vindictiveness and irritation.

One morning young Cancellor was found dead in his bed. The body was carefully covered over. It had white kid gloves upon its hands, and long stockings drawn far up over the thighs; nothing was visible but the face. Hopley suggested that the boy had died of disease of the heart, and wished a certificate from the surgeon and immediate burial. At one moment it appeared likely that the whole affair would be hushed up. But mysterious stories of midnight shrieks and bloodstained instruments of punishment began to be whispered about. The servants had seen blood upon the linen in Mrs. Hopley's room, and had heard sounds which convinced them that the miserable wife had spent the night in the frightful task of preparing the body to pass a superficial investigation, and in getting rid of the traces of violence which would testify against her husband. Then came the real investigation. The gloves and the stockings were stripped off, and the legs and the arms of the corpse were found to be coated with extravasated blood, "the cellular membranes under the skin of the thighs were reduced to a perfect jelly; in fact, all torn to pieces and lacerated by the blows that had been inflicted."

There were two holes in the right leg about the size of a sixpence and an inch deep, which appeared to have been made by jabbing a thick stick into the flesh. The appearance was that of a human creature who had been mangled by an infuriated and merciless assailant. All these appearances coincided but too faithfully with what was now learnt of the conduct of the schoolmaster. A servant girl who slept next to the pupil-room heard the boy crying and screaming under blows and her master talking and beating. She listened at 10 o'clock, when the torture was going on, and she awoke at 12, and it was still proceeding. Then the cries suddenly ceased, and nothing after was heard during that unquiet night but the stealthy movements of the wife, who was, with womanly devotion, doing her fearful task of hiding the traces of the tragedy.

There is nothing to be said for this man. Every one must feel that four years of penal servitude is by no means too severe a sentence for the crime he has committed. It is true that the boy never ought to have been put under his management; that his was an exceptional case, and ought to have been medically treated. It may be true that Hopley thinks that severity is the only way to break in stubborn boys. But to beat a boy for two hours with a thick stick and a skipping rope, to maul him, to "prod" him, in private and at midnight, is not discipline, but murder. All private punishment should be severely discountenanced, but it would be absurd to speak of this as punishment; it was a deadly attack, followed by a naturally fatal consequence. This case has come out much worse than the preliminary investigation prepared us to expect, and we hold it up as a warning, not less to parents than to schoolmasters.

CASE OF AN AMERICAN CITIZEN IN PARIS.

A case of great importance to American citizens of foreign birth, from the continent of Europe, and particularly France, has just been decided by the French tribunals. A native of the department of the Lower Rhine, named Michael Zeiter, emigrated, while yet a boy, to the United States, where he became a naturalized citizen at the proper time, and in due form of law. In France his name had been enrolled for conscription on the register, and when he reached the age of military service the lot fell on him to serve. Being absent, the police were directed to seize him whenever they might find him. An opportunity at length presented itself. Zeiter, little dreaming what was in store for him, returned to see the spot where he first drew breath. It was at Weisenberg. He was arrested as a deserter from the army. Mr. Faulkner, the American Minister at Paris, demanded his release as a right, on the ground that there was no service due from him at the time of his emigration, and that, having renounced his allegiance to France, and sworn allegiance to the United States, France has now no claim upon him, and his individual allegiance is due to the land of his adoption. The French tribunal has pronounced in favor of the claim of the American Minister, and Zeiter has been discharged. This case is highly important, as the release of the prisoner was claimed as a right, and it will therefore serve as a precedent, not only in France, but on the continent of Europe generally.—*Cor. Trade of the North-West Coast.

It is a matter of surprise that no one has latterly attempted to compete with the Hudson Bay Company in the fur and oil trade on the North-West Coast. Time after time, expedition after expedition has been projected, to prosecute the trade; but as yet no company has been organized, nor no traders sent up the coast. It is true Capt. McKay has been engaged for years trading with the Indians, but he has chiefly confined himself to the west coast of this island. Formerly American traders visited the coast on trading voyages: but of late years the Company has had no competitors. Either through their license of exclusive trade with the Indians, which was revoked in 1859, or by paying higher prices than any one else, the Company have driven all competitors from the field.

As they are situated now, with the exclusive right to the Indian trade revoked, they have no advantage over individual enterprise,—except their intimate knowledge of the numbers, habits and localities of the Indians, acquired during many years' intercourse,—and the large capital which they have invested in the prosecution of the trade. When we take into consideration their large capital,—the maintenance of a steamer like the Labouche, merely for trading voyages,—we may safely conclude that the profits of the trade are enormous. It is said that the annual profits of the post at Fort Simpson alone, has been from £10,000 to £18,000. But whatever may be the amount, it is very certain that the trade has yielded handsomely.

The influx of population since 1858 has to some extent emancipated the Indians from their sway. The knowledge of higher prices being paid by outsiders for furs, has been slowly working its way among the northern tribes; and the opening for individual enterprise is much better than at any previous period. As it is the Indians bring large quantities of furs to this market, which in former years found their way to civilization only through the Company's forts. Of itself, the tendency to bring their furs here will necessarily be to cripple the Company's trade. But if individual enterprise entered the field, we have no doubt that in a few years it would remain master of the field; and the Company would betake itself to a higher latitude. In some respects the withdrawal of their capital would be felt as a mishap; yet, on the whole, the distribution of the trade among many independent traders would be far better for the country, whatever it might be for the Indians.

It is very certain that so far as civilizing the Indians is concerned, the Company has done but little; and were they to remain sole traders on the North-West Coast for the next century, they would never elevate the race to a higher position in the social scale than that they now occupy. Like the American slaves, they would be used only in the most degrading employment to provide for their feudal masters. To catch fur-bearing animals, and pull off the skin, is the height of Hudson Bay civilization among the Indians. The advantage, then, of a huge trading monopoly, to the red man, can be very little; and certainly so long as they have no competitors, the coast will never be settled, nor perhaps frequented, by a higher race.

Were the immense capital of the Company on this coast distributed among many smaller firms, it would give a great impetus to trade, and benefit the country more generally. As it is now, confined within a very limited circle, a large proportion of the profits are taken from the country to enrich absentee proprietors. Were enterprising firms, therefore, to engage in the trade, not only the advantage of the distribution of capital would be secured, but the entire profits of the trade would be retained in the country.

Little or nothing, as regards the extent of the fur trade on the North-West Coast, is known outside the Company's forts; and it is natural to conclude that any expedition would partake largely of an experiment. One season, however, would give a great insight into the trade, and furnish ample data for future enterprise. There is another means to advance individual enterprise—secure the assistance of men who have been in the Company's employ. It is said some of the American traders were bought off the coast by the Company offering position to their managers. What they have done others may follow out successfully. On the whole, the trade of the North-West Coast is one that deserves the attention of the enterprising.

ESQUIMALT ROAD.—Elsewhere will be found the report of the Road meeting on Saturday at Esquimalt. But little, apparently, has been accomplished towards putting the present road in a passable condition for winter. The chief object of the meeting appeared to have been to define the line of road to the town from Rough and Ready's. Mr. Cochrane's report on that subject was adopted. It follows the present road, except at the hill near Porter's. There it turns to the left, to avoid the steep ascent. The reports of Messrs. Moberly and Green for the route from Victoria were also adopted. They recommended that the road cross at Victoria Bridge; thence to the left till it strikes the Royal Hospital; and thence in a direct line behind Mr. Russell's house, till it intersects the present road at Rough and Ready's. This route has the advantage of being shorter, level, and can be made cheaper than by crossing at Pemberton's Folly.

It appeared to be the wish of the meeting that a subscription be raised forthwith to improve the present road for winter. An address with this object in view was voted to the Assembly, requesting that body to request the Governor to guarantee the payment of any subscription out of the Esquimalt license fund. This certainly is a very good suggestion, when all other means fail. But we would like to know what His Excellency has to do in guaranteeing payment. The House alone can vote away that fund; and His Excellency merely executes their wishes. So it will require an enabling act to help the Governor out. And the sooner the House does it the better, except public business is to be done in a slipshod way, by allowing a resolution of this or that meeting to repeal an act of parliament.

Another resolution requests His Excellency to discover the whereabouts of the missing $1800; and then expend it, not for the object for which it was appropriated; but to make the new line of road. It is within the province of the Executive to institute an inquiry as to what has become of the missing funds; but when he is requested to lay it out on the new road, something is asked that cannot be legally done. An enabling act is as much necessary to divert the money from its original object, as it is to render the license fund liable for the proposed subscription list. We hope something practicable will result from the meeting. But we confess that we see but little chance to improve the road this fall, except by subscription.

Launch of a New Steamboat.

On Saturday afternoon, a large number of ladies and gentlemen visited the ship yard at Laurel Point, for the purpose of witnessing the launch of a new steamboat built for C. T. Millard, Esq., and intended for the Fraser River trade. The boat is a stern-wheel, and of light draught. At four o'clock, everything was announced in readiness, the blocks were knocked away, and just as the boat was gliding from the stocks, Miss Elizabeth Reed, daughter of Capt. James Reed, advanced and performed the usual ceremony of christening the boat, by breaking a bottle of champagne over the bows, and at the same time exclaiming, "Success to the Hope." The vessel glided off swiftly, amid the cheers of the crowd, and soon rode upon the waters of the bay as gracefully as if they were her natural element. She floated about half-way across, when the anchor was dropped, and she was shortly afterwards brought to the Point, and moored in safety.

After the launch had been effected, several baskets of Cluquot champagne yielded up their contents, and amid the popping of the corks and cheers of congratulation, the future good "health" of the Hope was drunk by the multitude.

The extreme length of the Hope is 95 feet; breadth of beam, 18 feet; depth of hold, 4 feet; wheel, 16 feet in diameter. She was modeled and built by Messrs. Elder & Philips. Her engines were constructed at the foundry of Spratt & Debie, San Francisco, under the superintendence of Wash. J. Elrick, a pioneer engineer of Fraser River. A portion of the machinery is here, and the balance will arrive by the next steamer. She will have two 13-inch cylinders; 3½ feet stroke, and a tubular boiler. It is thought she will have sufficient power to stem the swiftest water between Hope and Yale; although it is not intended to run her to the latter place at present.

The launch was one of the most successful ever made in the harbor; and the boat seems, from her size and model, well adapted to the Fraser River route.

HAD SENSE IF HE WAS DRUNK.—A Hy-dah Indian, on Sunday morning, got drunk at his lodge, and feeling his incapacity for taking care of himself, came to the police station, with nothing on him but his pants, and asked to be locked up. The officer in charge complied with his request, and yesterday morning the magistrate ordered him to have his hair removed, in default of five shillings fine.

CHAMPAGNE.—We yesterday received from C. T. Millard, Esq., a bottle of genuine Cluquot, in honor of the christening and launch of his new steamboat, the Hope, on Saturday last. The wine was excellent; and as we learn the workmen were regaled with the same beverage, there is no wonder that the launch proved a success.

SAN JUAN LIME.—We were yesterday shown some specimens of lime from San Juan Island. It is as white as chalk, and slacks much quicker than any lime we have yet seen on the Pacific coast. It was burned in a rude kiln, and without the usual precautions of lime-burners. The supply of the stone is almost inexhaustible.

ON THE RUN.—Henry Rabbit, a crazy Frenchman, confined in the station-house to keep him out of mischief, on Sunday morning, darted out of the jail-yard, and ran into Langley street. He was overhauled however, before he got to Yates street, and marched back to his cell.

"REDDY."—Daniel Driscoll, alias Reddy, arrested on suspicion of being an Indian whisky seller, was on Saturday sent to prison for one month, in default of finding sureties for his future good behavior.

Charge of False Pretence.

Josiah L. Foster, on Saturday last, complained that he had given one Jacob Young $750, to pay a grocer's bill to a man named Martin, residing on Humboldt street, which amount he had pocketed instead of appropriating to the purpose named. Yesterday morning Young was brought into Court, and D. B. Ring, Esq., appeared as his counsel. The complainant was placed on the stand, and seemed to think it was his duty to annoy the counsel, instead of the counsel annoying him. He succeeded in making himself generally disagreeable, but was finally called to order by the magistrate. He testified to having given Young the money, and also to owing the latter for eleven days and a quarter's work.

A witness called to prove the defendant's character, said he had been given to understand by prisoner that he owned a lot in the rear of the new iron church. Witness also said he had lent him money and a pair of shoes.

Prisoner—Didn't I give you a pair of pants?

Witness—Them same pants are at my house, and you can have 'em now, if you want 'em.

Prisoner—If anybody can prove anything agin my character, I'm willin'. [Sotto voce.] That same fellow came to my house, and I boarded him for two weeks. He put on a pair of my best pants, and ruined them by tearing the crotch out. Then I had a pair of nice white pants—I bought them at a second-hand shop—they was almost as good as new—and he wore them out, too.

Martin, a grocer, testified that he had not received the $750 from prisoner, and also said he had been swindled by the prisoner. The Judge ordered a second charge to be entered against the prisoner for swindling Martin. A colored man, named Dyer, testified that the prisoner owed him for four weeks board. Two or three other witnesses were called, and the case was remanded till this morning, at 10 o'clock.

After the evidence had closed, another witness came forward and said the prisoner had got £15 in groceries from him, and gave him an order on Foster. The Judge recommended him to appear to-day.

From the River.

The steamer Wilson G. Hunt arrived from Fraser river on Saturday morning. She brought 48 passengers.

The amount of gold dust must have been heavy; Ballou's Express had $15,000; and in private hands, we should judge, there was about $20,000.

The news is cheering; and most of the passengers express themselves as determined to return in the spring.

Some fine samples of coarse gold came from Quesnelle and Cariboo.

A man named Wm. Smith, a Swede, and formerly a sailor, was drowned on the 19th inst, while crossing Fraser river in a canoe below McCrea's Bar, Little Cañon. He was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

Two Indians were drowned on the 18th, near Emory's Bar, by the upsetting of a canoe.

A boatman in the employ of Messrs. Wright, Scott, and Nelson, of Port Douglas, who plied between Cayoosh and the Big Canon, disappeared one day last week with about $1000 belonging to that firm.—N. W. Times.

The Times is complaining that not only are its officials absentees, but the British Columbia criminals are afflicted with the same disorder, the latter being kept at work in the Victoria chain-gang.

The Bigamy Case.

This case was called yesterday in the Police Court.

A Catholic priest testified to marrying George Stevens to Elizabeth Crowley, on the 9th of July last.

Mr. Crease, counsel for defence, admitted the marriage of his client to Elizabeth Crowley; but claimed that no evidence had been adduced to prove the prisoner had been ever before married.

Mr. McCreight, for the prosecution, said he had been unable to procure any evidence beyond that given on Thursday of the first marriage. Mr. McC. also called his honor's attention to an authority in which it was stated that evidence must be produced to prove that the prisoner's first wife was alive. He said that although it would operate against the prosecution, he still felt it his duty to call his honor's attention to the authority.

His honor thought he should have to discharge the prisoner.

Mr. McCreight asked that the prisoner might be bound over in his own recognizances for two months, to appear if further evidence was procured from Philadelphia.

His honor consented, and the case was remanded for two months.

The Yale Steam Navigation Company's steamboat, will be launched about October 6th.

Esquimalt Road Meeting.

Minutes of proceedings at a Road Meeting, convened by Capt. Gordon, and held at the Royal Oak Hotel, Esquimalt, on Saturday, 22d Sept., 1860:

Proposed by Capt. Gordon, and seconded by Mr. Harris, that Mr. Burnaby take the chair. Carried.

Mr. John Trutch was requested to act as Secretary.

Major Foster made a short statement with reference to two reports—one from Mr. F. W. Green, and one from Mr. W. Moberly, which were read and handed in.

Mr. Harris spoke in favor of continuing the road in its present position.

Capt. Gordon handed in a report from Mr. Cochrane, endorsing the reports of Messrs. Green and Moberly as far as "Rough and Ready's," but suggesting certain alterations between that point and the Hospital.

Mr. Crease suggested that any improvements made now, should be in view of the alterations of road as proposed.

Major Foster proposed that the line of road suggested in the report made by Mr. Cochrane be adopted. Seconded by Mr. Harris, and carried.

Mr. Sellick spoke in favor of the road being brought on the south side of Esquimalt Bay on piles.

Major Foster alluded to the almost impassable state of the present road between Victoria and Esquimalt, and suggested that something be done to put the same in repair for the coming winter, and that the proposed new road be commenced in the spring.

Major Foster suggested a petition to His Excellency the Governor that all sums raised from liquor licenses in Esquimalt be applied to making the proposed road.

Mr. Crease thought the plan impracticable and suggested raising the necessary money by private subscription.

Major Foster proposed and Captain Gordon seconded that a petition be presented to the House of Assembly praying His Excellency the Governor, in consideration of the bad state of the road between Victoria and Esquimalt, to guarantee the repayment out of the funds of the colony of any sum, not exceeding $1,000, that may be advanced by private individuals for the purpose of placing said road in a passable condition before the winter sets in.

Amendment proposed by Mr. Crease, and seconded by Mr. Williams, that the sum of $2000 be substituted for $1000. Carried.

Proposed by Major Foster, and seconded by Mr. Carroll, that the report of Major Foster's committee be adopted, and that the road proposed therein be commenced early in the spring. Carried.

Proposed by Major Foster, and seconded by Mr. Crease, that an address be presented to His Excellency the Governor, praying him to cause the proper officials to render an account of the money appropriated in 1858—for repairing the Esquimalt Road,—and to direct any balance remaining unexpended to be applied towards making the proposed new road. Carried.

After a vote of thanks to the chairman and secretary, the meeting separated.

ROBERT BURNABY, Chairman.

JOHN TRUTCH, Secretary.

DEPARTURE OF DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

—Prince Kamehameha and suite, (in full uniform), accompanied by Henry Rhodes, Esq., Hawaiian consul, on Saturday visited Esquimalt, and were received and most hospitably entertained by Capt. Spencer, of H. M. S. Topaze. A royal salute was fired from Her Majesty's vessels, and the colors set. In the evening the royal party returned to this city, and expressed themselves highly pleased with their reception. Yesterday afternoon the Prince and suite, after bidding farewell to those of our officials and citizens who had called upon them during their stay in our town, embarked in the Hawaiian schooner Emma Rooke, and sailed for San Francisco. The vessel reached the outer harbor about six o'clock, where she dropped anchor, and this morning, we believe, proceeded on her way.

A GREAT RASCAL.—By the steamer Hunt news was received of the departure of one A. P. Craner, from the upper country, bound for Oregon, overland. Craner was in town about three months since, and purchased an excellent assortment of goods, from several of our merchants, valued at $15,000! These goods Craner took to Quesnelle, sold them at about cost price, and bestriding a mule, struck for Oregon. Efforts will be made to detain him in California.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

The only pure and genuine Balsam is, for the last twenty years has been prepared by WISTAR & CO., of Boston, and the printed name, as well as the written signature of I. BUTTS, appear on the outer wrappers. As you would avoid the spurious and have the genuine, take no other!

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—This invaluable remedy is the best cure extant for the safe, sure, speedy and permanent cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pleurisy, Pneumonia, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bleeding at the Lungs, pain in the breast or side, and in fact every form of Throat, Chest and Lung Complaint, as well as Consumption itself.

A Daily Scene.
A dim light in the window,
Deep straw under the gate,
And silence, lingering as in pain
Some closing breath to wait.
Is it a mother that departs?
A sire, whose course is o'er?
A child, mid tears and breaking hearts,
That speaks to death's mute shore?
Doth friend lose friend? Some comrade old
That early boyhood knew—
When, like a lamb from Nature's fold,
Life drank the morning dew.
We know not. This alone we know:
There is no home but tells
Some sorrow in this world below
Of graves and funeral bells.
Some flower beloved that bloomed in vain,
Some joy that could not last;
Some hope that darkened into pain;
Some grief that shrouds the past.
Another sun hath bathed the lawn
In light, and golden air;
The dead hath found another dawn,
A dawn which angels share.
Around the house a sadness steals,
A weight that pains the brow;
There is no fear of rolling wheels,
No need of caution now.
No need of blind drawn windows,
No deep straw, borne aside,
To tell us in that darkened home
Some heart hath loved—and died.
CHARLES SWAIN.

A PROPER TAKING DOWN.—A female belonging to a family who have within a year or two risen from poverty and obscurity to a wealthy position, was trading in a store, when a strange lady present asked the pretty but conceited girl how much trimming it would take for a dress she was about making.
"I do not know anything about it," she replied. At the same time turning to and addressing herself to another young lady in the store, said, "Miss N—, perhaps you can tell the quantity necessary? you are a dressmaker."
"Certainly I am," replied Miss N—, "and I am surprised that you should so soon have forgotten the rules of a trade you so recently worked at!" (Miss N— knew her.)
The vain girl blushed, and with considerable bitterness said: "I wish you to understand that I do not do my own sewing, much less sewing for other people—we have our sewing all done out!"
"I am glad to hear it," said Miss N—, "for it is only a year or two since you not only did your own sewing, but took in sewing for other people, and occasionally went out to work!"
The clerk present, who were well acquainted with the circumstances of the case, could no longer restrain themselves, and breaking forth in a loud laugh, the discomfited young lady beat a hasty retreat.

DRUGS & MEDICINES.

DR. ADOLPHUS' ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

Health Restorative

IS THE MOST VALUABLE AND UNSURPASSED remedy for Rheumatism and Gout to be found in the world, or known at present. The liability in all cases of Rheumatism and Gout—when used according to direction—and does offer a reward of five thousand dollars to any medicine that does supersede it, and is entirely vegetable. The Doctor is enabled to offer the above reward on account of his having used the above medicine for ten years in his practice, and has never known it to fail in the cure of the most protracted cases of Rheumatism and Gout, and withstood all known remedies to the profession. Doctor Adolphus is known and rightly celebrated throughout the Empire for his cure of Rheumatism and Chronic Diseases, and has only to the continued urgent efforts of his patients, and through the desire to help them who are not enabled to see him personally, or to spend a fortune to get rid of the disease, which they have contracted in the pursuit of their daily calling; only this has been able to persuade the Doctor to give the above medicine to the public, and at such terms that every suffering one should be able to reap its benefits.
As a Health Restorative its value surpasses all the mineral wealth and riches of California; and is creating a revolution in the whole treatment of disease throughout the world.
In secondary and tertiary Syphilis, Scrofula, Enlargement of the Glands, Dropsy, and all Nervous and Cutaneous Diseases, and the whole train of Chronic Diseases, which withstand and baffle the skill of the most excellent and learned physician in the world; in Chronic Diseases whose very name is a terror as well to the physician as to the patient, this medicine has proved to be superior to any existing one, and has cured in a short time that they appear like being abolished by magic influence, and in fact a few more such discoveries, and druggists will not need to keep a lot of useless medicines on hand, whenever they are prescribed once in a ten score they have lost their right to be in the world, which their value did reside, if there was actually any in them.
Take this medicine when your digestive organs are disordered and your blood is impure, it will surely act on your bowels.
Take this medicine when you have a cold, and it will make you perspire freely.
Take this medicine when your urinary and absorbing organs are disordered, and it will act on your kidneys—it penetrates every part of your body, searches even the most remote and secret recesses, and restores healthy action and gives tone to every organ in the human body—therefore it has rightfully deserved the name it bears: HEALTH RESTORATIVE.
The Doctor, who is averse to all patent medicines, wishes it to be understood that the above medicine is no such thing; but that he has, through the introduction of this medicine with its treatise and directions for use, made every sufferer to be his own physician in the above named disease.
Under the name of my dignity to follow the mode of quacks, by appending certificates of physicians or private persons, which is too well known can be had for certain remunerations, applications of friends, or by the mode of boring a man's name in the paper, the most worthless trash, I will therefore leave it to those in want of medicine to inquire personally of men who have been cured by my medicines of the above diseases, and who can be found in almost every city and village throughout the State, and consider such personal conviction far superior to certificates of persons that are far from being known to them in want of medical aid.
But should any one care for written testimonials or certificates regarding the cures performed by this medicine, they might call at my office, and I will show them certificates of true merit, which have been sent to me voluntarily, without applying for them, or by boring individuals to get them.
To satisfy the most scrupulous of men, also as a guarantee to those that have not had the opportunity of knowing the Doctor by reputation or personally, I have added to every bottle of the Anti-Rheumatic Cordial, the certificate, under oath, of one of the most celebrated analytical chemists in the United States, that there are no minerals nor poisons contained in this medicine, although it is a very powerful medicine, which it necessarily must have, to overcome the action of disease of such malignant character.
